Sources: OCFS Juvenile Justice Information Systems (JJIS) database and Children and Youth Services Review (CCRS) database. In 2013, OCFS revised the legal codes utilized for identification of Note: If a youth was in both JJIS (OCFS custody) and CCRS as LDSS Custody, it was assumed that the youth was only in OCFS custody during the year. This impacts a very small number of youth. In 2013, legal codes to identify LDSS JD youth was expanded/revised. As a result, LDSS JD numbered provided here are not comparable to previous analysis.

Note: In 2013, OCFS revised the legal codes utilized for identification of PINs/LDSS JD identification and those for previous years were calculated using the revised definition. As such these numbers should not be compared with previous estimates. This is based on legal codes in Child Care Review Service (CCRS) and is dependent on the accuracy of data entry.
